PERSONAL STYLE CONSULTANT

Style-Me

This personal style service, run by Caroline Stanbury, is for both men and women. After an initial consultation, Miss Stanbury will discuss your lifestyle and wardrobe requirements, sort through your cupboards, take you shopping or source new clothing and accessories for you. She will work to all budgets and will also advise on hair and make-up, diet and exercise to achieve a totally updated look. Miss Stanbury provides a useful eBay store service for recycling expensive mistakes and everything unwanted from your wardrobe. This new service has proved extremely successful with impressive second-hand sales. Christmas shopping is an additional service, but you would need to book soon.

BESPOKE SCENT

Ormonde Jayne

Have a scent mixed just for you with matching candles. Allow four to six months, as the process requires some maturing along the way. This gives time to add new oils to the basic accord and test the potency. This service is wonderful for brides—Zac Goldsmith had all the scented candles for his wedding bespoke from Ormonde Jayne, who has also created special perfumes for Burberry. Bespoke scent starts at £2,500, except if you need to use their Oud oil, which costs $30,000 per kilo. This would be like creating your own gold dust!

Roja Dove Haute Parfumerie

Mr Dove is considered one of the world's foremost authorities on perfume. He worked with the Guerlain family for 20 years, where he learned the tricks of his trade. You can be advised on your own perfect scent by Mr Dove at his Harrods boutique, where he also keeps a few of his own perfumes, all of which are limited edition. This means, for instance, that only 50 people in the world can wear Roja No 2 at any one time. When a book is complete, no one else can use that particular scent, but, as a subscriber, you can re-order as many times as you wish. A consultation with Mr Dove will cost £200, or, for £20,000, he can create a totally bespoke scent for your personal use only. Additionally, Mr Dove offers a selection of glamorous and original Lalique bottles.
